Holy Invasion of Privacy,
Badman! 2
Time To Tighten Up Security!

Santa Ana, CA (Oct 7, 2009) – NIS America announced today that the sequel to the retro classic themed strategy game “Holy Invasion of Privacy Badman!: What Did I Do to Deserve This?” will be coming to North America in Spring 2010.

As a critically acclaimed strategy game in Japan, Badman will make its presence felt in the West this Spring. From its retro-classic art style to its simple, yet intuitive game play, Badman is the anti-trend of games today. However, for players looking for a refreshingly new game experience, Badman offers more than plenty.

About Holy Invasion of Privacy, Badman! 2

The goal of the game is clean and simple: As the God of Destruction, you must create a dungeon that is both difficult and powerful enough to fend off the human hero invaders. The dungeon must have a self-sustaining ecosystem, so players must strategically dig and create a dungeon with a balanced food chain. Periodically, human heroes will invade the dungeon, in order to bring peace and harmony to the world. But, they are your enemies. You must destroy the heroes before they capture the Overlord and take him back to the surface.

The game system may be simple, but Badman2 is loaded with tons of evolving monsters, environments, and heroes for hours of game play. Compared to the original game, Badman 2 has 2.5 times more heroes, 3.3 times more monsters, and 4 times more stages to beat.
